4.0 School Improvement Plans

4.1 Nathaniel Morton Elementary School (NMES) - School Improvement Plan

Nathaniel Morton Elementary School (NMES) SIP Presentation & Annual Action Plan, Year 1

To receive a report from the School Council of Nathaniel Morton Elementary School relative to the 2019-2021 School Improvement Plan, and associated Year One Action Plan

Dr. Maestas invited Mr. Michael Spencer-Principal and Mrs. Kristine Chase-Assistant Principal and members of their school council to the table to present the Nathaniel Morton School Improvement Plan. Mr. Spencer explained there is a wide range of people on the council, although not everyone was able to make it this evening. He introduced Assistant Principal Kristine Chase, parent representative Kristin Morrison, and teacher and parent representative Jennifer Hessel-Smith that are with him this evening. Mr. Spencer started by welcoming Nathaniel Morton's new neighbors on Lincoln Street, and he expressed that everyone at the school is delighted to have Central Office across the street.

Mr. Spencer explained they are presenting a new three-year plan. He said they set the goals utilizing a number of criteria including data, conversation, professional trends and student feedback. He said he values the time the council has together, as all aspects of the school are discussed. Mr. Spender shared they have developed three goals to guide the schools over the next 3 years.

Mr. Spencer shared that the first goal or objective is academic focus, with a specific emphasis on writing instruction. He explained data analysis shows the school below state average on the MCAS essay and constructed response questions. He also shared that he recently attended a 3-day literacy leadership institute at Columbia University's Teachers College of Reading and Writing, and he gained a sharper focus from the conference on specific steps to adopt in order to effect change and improvement. He explained that he was able to visit some local schools in New York City during the program at Columbia, and he noticed a lot of celebration of the writing process, and Nathaniel Morton wants to bring all aspects of the student writing at Nathaniel Morton more alive as well.

Mrs. Chase presented the second goal which is Engagement focus, where the school will look to provide unique opportunities connected to thematic learning to increase student engagement, enthusiasm and experiences. She explained there was such a positive reaction to the marine studies theme, and they want to expand on that across all the grades. She explained they are considering a number of ideas which may include peacemakers and likely something associated with Plymouth 2020, among many others. She said the school will partner with the PTA and other organizations to help support performers and professionals to support themes that are chosen, and they will also look to regularly partner with the secondary level schools to come in and work with the students on projects related to the various themes.

Mr. Spencer shared that the third goal is focused on social and emotional wellness across the board, with the objective of increasing students' individual social competencies and positive peer interaction as well as an emphasis on physical movement. Ms. Hessel-Smith spoke to her experience as a physical education teacher and the opportunity to work with the students on the playground. Utilizing student feedback, she was able to set up teams and designate them with responsibilities for playground equipment as well as new ideas for recess activities. Mr. Spencer inquired across all the grades on what they would like, and they are teaming up with Playworks on recess techniques through a recess audit. Mr. Spencer further explained they have seen about a 50% rise in student population needing social and emotional support. He said this goal is to have kids feel better about who they are and, in turn, have better and stronger relationships with their peers and families.

Finally, Mrs. Chase spoke to a fourth goal (Communication Integration) which is an active component of all the school improvement plan goals. She explained they have created an electronic grade-level update, as well as a number of other focus-based communications. Mrs. Chase said they plan to have more opportunities to showcase students and their learning, especially around the learning that will take place through "theme" days. Mrs. Chase shared that they are planning to host a Social and Emotional family forum, put on through the School Council, to help families understand the need and value of social and emotional learning as well as provide tips and strategies for supporting their own families.

Mr. Spencer then provided an overview of the learning outcomes associated with the goals, and he gave a heartfelt shout out to his teaching staff for all they do, and for always putting children's interests first.

Dr. Sorensen stated he appreciated the outcome measures as they give the plan specificity. He also liked the wording on the theory of action for each goal, as expectations for both students and staff are very clear for a successful outcome. On behalf of the Committee, Dr. Sorensen thanked the group for their presentation.

5.0 Program Updates

A) Program Directors

5.1 Media & Technology Update ~ Julia Colby, Director

Media & Technology Presentation materials

To receive a report from the Director of Media & Technology relative to the status of the program.

Dr. Maestas welcomed and introduced Mrs. Julia Colby and Mr. Alan McLane and invited them and their team up to the table.

Mrs. Colby thanked the Committee for the opportunity to present this evening and she introduced Mr. Jeffrey Hudson-Technology Integration Specialist at Plymouth North High, Ms. Amy Kneller-Technology Integration Specialist at South High, and Ms. Kerri Camirand-Technology Integration Specialist at PCIS. Mrs. Colby explained they would provide an update on the technology curriculum, where they are now and where they are headed in the coming months. She shared that the last time they updated the Committee, they provided an opportunity for all members to experience virtual reality, and this time the team brought iPads so the Committee and Administrators could experience augmented reality. She explained that virtual reality puts the user into a new, totally different environment and, with augmented reality, digital objects are added on top of the environment you are already in. All Administrators and Committee Members were able to include objects from our solar system onto their iPads. Mrs. Colby explained that they redesign or adjust the technology curriculum at the elementary level every year as technology and student knowledge and ability shifts. Mrs. Colby also provided curriculum map overviews and shared that consensus is used to decide on new tools and technologies to incorporate each year, and she also emphasized that all technology curriculum complements and is coordinated with other subjects and topics being covered at every grade level. Mrs. Colby also provided updates on all STEM initiatives, including Robotics and the programmable robots available to our elementary and middle school students. She also provided an overview on a number of the tools and programs in use across the district. Mrs. Colby shared that they have built and provide a dedicated district-wide website page on MCAS, they have begun looking at and utilizing website analytics and finally they have a new MDM (mobile device management) tool to manage all the iPads across the district. Mrs. Colby explained there continues to be discussion about Plymouth potentially becoming a bring your own device (BYOD) district, but research and analysis are still underway before a final decision will be made on that topic.

Mr. McLane provided an update on infrastructure. He explained that improved wireless technology was completed at all elementary schools last summer; this summer they will upgrade the high schools, and next year they will upgrade the middle schools. Mr. McLane said they are utilizing E-Rate, which allows for schools and libraries to obtain these services at discounted rates. Mr. McLane provided additional updates related to technology changes due to Central Office moving from So. Meadow Road to Lincoln Street.

Ms. Hunt shared that at a workshop she attended at the NASB Conference called Master Class over the weekend she learned that teachers should be mindful about asking students for assistance with technology because some students shared that asking students for help discredits the teacher/instructor.

Mrs. Heywood inquired about the augmented reality and the future plans utilizing this technology going forward. Mrs. Colby said the plan, for now, is to continue using the Google Expedition product, since it is free and because Google is so reputable. She said her staff is looking at other options, but since the technology is still so new, they will wait to make any monetary commitment.

Dr. Maestas shared the district is working on a book about the history of Massachusetts, and it will have an Augmented Reality component built into it. Dr. Maestas also shared that last year South High received a grant for a program where students can virtually spray paint cars. The tool has provided students with the ability to practice and gain confidence, and the program is saving money on materials and the students are producing better work as a result of the virtual reality training experience.
